INVESTMENT

Stutts Ranch Resort & Arena represents a turnkey hospitality and equestrian business with established infrastructure, proven concept, and significant expansion potential on the 15-acre undeveloped parcel. Whether operated as a luxury guest ranch, professional training facility, event venue, or private family compound, the property offers flexibility and income-generating potential in one of Arizona's most sought-after equestrian destinations.

Wickenburg and its immediate area boast a high concentration of professional grade roping arenas, including major venues like Rancho Rio, which annually hosts the National Team Roping Finals (NTR) and sees approximately 30,000 teams compete annually. The sheer volume of year-round events and jackpots is unparalleled, attracting thousands of contestants and spectators from across the U.S. and Canada. The seasonal influx of "roping snowbirds"—competitors and enthusiasts who stay for months to practice and compete—creates a significant economic boom for the small town of roughly 8,000 residents. This generates demand for equestrian properties, specialized services (feed, tack, veterinary), second homes, and long-term RV/horse boarding, making the roping industry a primary engine for local real estate and tourism.

Beyond the economic metrics, the title defines the town's culture. Wickenburg offers a genuine Western atmosphere where the roping lifestyle is central, attracting professional and amateur ropers alike to an environment dedicated to the sport.

TAXES: $7,721 (2025)
